The Landing of Garibaldi.

The landing of the Italian patriot in Calabria, is graphically described by a correspondent of the London News. The landing took place on the 8th of August, and is an event long to be remembered by the grateful Neapolitans, whom Garibaldi has rushed to deliver from their persecutors:

There they are on Neapolitan soil. After eleven long years of sorrow and despair, the national flag is hoisted again upon the misty tops of the Calabrian mountains. Yesterday, as the sun was setting, a southwest wind was driving dense clouds towards the Calabrian coasts. A dark night was therefore announced—a night favorable to the bold enterprise so long meditated by the Italian hero of our times. The [illegible] rising moon were not able to pierce the dense vapors of the atmosphere, and the whole tract of land which skirts the Sicilian gulf was wrapped in a dense vail of fog. At 8 o'clock, the General, who was on board the City of Aberdeen, gave his last orders to Major Missori—the noble fellow to whom Garibaldi is indebted for his life, which, without Missori's courage, would perhaps have been lost at Melazzo. Ten men were asked to volunteer out of each company of one of the encamped brigades. Fifty carabinieri of Genoa, twenty guides, and twenty of the engineer battalion and of the artillery were besides asked to join the select party, together with some English and French volunteers. The party on which thus devolved the honor of crossing the Paro and showing the way to Naples did not number more than three hundred and fifty men. Major Missori was the officer in command, and had under his orders Majors Sallamone and Nulla, of the general staff. At half-past eight o'clock all the men were on board of fishing boats and ready to sail. But here an unanimous complaint was heard among the ranks of the brigade. Those soldiers who were not of the envied number made most urgent requests to their officers to be allowed to share the fate of their comrades who were starting on the most dangerous enterprise of this wonderful campaign. I say the most dangerous, for the coasts of Calabria are manned with hundreds of guns, and its narrow sea is swarming with Neapolitan men-of-war. The party had scarcely reached the middle of the gulf when it was known here that it had been directed by Garibaldi to surprise or storm the fort of Cavallo, which nearly faces Faro Point and stands upon a rocky hillock which skirts the coast. A signal had been agreed upon to inform Garibaldi of the safe landing of the expedition. I will not attempt to describe the anxious expectation of that long, long hour. Ten thousand men were waiting there to know the fate which was in store for their noble companions. At last a faint light appeared along the opposite shore. God be praised, the expedition had landed in Calabria.

The Prince of Wales a Viceroy.—A patent, says the Court Journal, has just passed the Great Seal, conferring the powers of a viceroy upon the young Prince of Wales, during his visit to Canada. His Royal Highness will thus have the same right of conferring the honor of knighthood that is possessed by the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, which is simply by giving the accolade. Honors of a higher rank, and which are hereditary, require a patent, and therefore the crown will act in those cases through the Secretary of State, as usual. At any rate, no material alteration has been made in issuing the Prince's patent, as to the mode hitherto pursued in granting such honors. We believe the patent was forwarded lately from England to His Royal Highness.

The Irish Recruits for the Pope.

The Cork (Ireland) Constitution of August 11, thus chronicles the arrival there of a fresh batch of the repentants:—

"If present appearances are not very deceptive, the Brigade that was to achieve so much glory on Italian soil will soon be little but a name. For the last few weeks numbers of those who went from this country to Rome have been hastening back and giving such accounts of the treatment they received as satisfactorily explain the subsidence of their zeal for the service of the Holy Father. Some who went from this city, it has been already mentioned, have returned, but more have since come to corroborate the statements of the horror endured by the recruits. Yesterday no fewer than 36 arrived here. Worn, pallid, and miserable, their appearance left no necessity for tongue to tell of the hardships they went through since a few short months ago they embarked at our quays in the certainty of finding glory and good pay on the banks of the Tiber. Their description of what they endured is just the same as that which has already been given by those who preceeded them. The hardest of marches, the vilest of lodging, and the worst of food, and even of that same only just as much as kept them from actual starvation, left them little mind for bearing arms under Lamoriciere, and, before it was too late, they left the Pontine Marshes and their autumnal fevers behind them. Many of the 36 belong to this city, but the greater number are from Kerry and the adjoining counties."

Hints on Marriage.—If you are a very pree se man, and wish to be certain of what you get, never marry a girl named Ann; for we have the authority of Lindley Murrray and others, that "an is an indefinite article."

If you would like to have a wife who is "one of a thousand," you should marry an Emily or an Emma, for any printer can tell you that "ems" are counted by thousands.

If you wish to have a bustling, fly-about wife, you should marry one named Jenny; for every cotton factor knows that jennies are always spinning.

If you want to marry a Belle, it is not necessary that you should qe a sexton, just because you have to ring her at the altar.

[illegible] may be sure that she will come to the gallows, for all the world knows that Pegs were made for hanging.

If you wish to succeed in life as a porter, you should marry Caroline and treat her very kindly, for as long as you continue to do that you will be good to Carry.

The most incessant writer in the world is he who is always bound to Ad-a-line.

You may adore your wife, but you will be surpassed in love when your wife is a Dora.

Many men of high moral principles, and who would not gamble for the world, still have not refused to take a Bet.

Federation.—The following views on Federation are put forth by John Ham Perry, a candidate for the representation of King Division, Upper Canada, in the Legislative Council:

The question of a Federation of all the Provinces of British North America is, even now, generally and very favorably entertained. I confidently anticipate the early accomplishment of such a scheme, and most earnestly hope for its consummation. I will zealously and cordially support every step calculated to secure its attainment. I believe that by the consolidation of our mutual interests and strength, we shall lay the foundation of a great North American Nation, linked together by the bonds of mutual commercial advantages, and to our Mother Country by the strongest ties of origin, kindred institutions, and identity of interests. I believe that this is the only plan, by which we may hope to root out from amongst us, that bitter spirit of sectionalism and local jealousy now existing, and elevate the now petty politics of our Province to more worthy aspirations after Grand National objects.

TO ADVERTISERS.

CORRESPONDENCE,

Communications of general interest to the public, will not be refused insertion in the COLONIST on account of differing withthe views of the paper,—provided that they are brief and to the point.

Saturday Morning, October 20, 1860.

Taxation without Representation.

We profess to hold sacred the ancient maxim that taxation and representation go together; and yet we find that our practice belies the principle which it involves. In this colony taxes—and heavy taxes, indeed—are imposed without the sanction of the Assembly, and the people are compelled to pay them, or are forbid access to the Courts of Justice. What we refer to are the fees of Court.

Under the act to provide for the administration of justice on Vancouver Island, passed by the Imperial Parliament in 1849, power was given to the local Legislature to provide for the administration of justice in the colony. The Supreme and Inferior Courts were, however, constituted by Her Majesty's Order in Council. Pursuant to the provisions of the Order, the Chief Justice, with the consent of the Governor has established certain tables of fees to be paid by suitors. Although the power thus vested in the Chief Justice, may be derived from an Act of Parliament; still the exercise of that power is virtually arbitrary, and clashes with the doctrine that taxation and representation go together. Neither the Chief Justice nor the Governor are representatives of the people. The Imperial Parliament of the day did represent the people of England; and had the right to pass an act to enable the Crown to form Courts of Justice here. In fact, in organizing the Colony it was necessary to constitute courts; but it certainly was never contemplated that the Assembly would allow fees to be charged for the administration of justice without subjecting them to revision, and sanctioning their exaction It is difficult to see how in the origin of our courts any principle could obtain other than what has been put in force; for at that time no Legislature existed. A Legislature has however been organized since 1856, and during the whole period no inquiry has been made into this subject. It is time some action ought to be taken in the premises. It is a matter perfectly immaterial to the Judge whether the fees are high or low, so far as his salary is concerned. It was not so formerly. Then he had a certain proportion of the fees taken; now a stated salary is voted out of the casual and Territorial revenue.

But another view of the question is taken. The object now appears to be to render the Courts self-supporting institutions,—and the fees, therefore, are out of proportion to those exacted in older communities, where the value of labor is less, and the ratio of business greater. In fact the fees are so high, that they are tantamount to a denial of justice; and it is matter of general complaint that the Assembly, in connection with the consideration of the Ways and Means, have not taken the subject into their own hands.

It may be argued that no one is so well qualified as judges to say what fees ought to be charged. Or it may still further be urged that our practice has obtained elsewhere under the sanction of acts of parliament, and been found to work well; and we should let well enough alone. In answer, we admit that if fees are charged at all, consideration is certainly due to the opinion of the judges; but it is one thing to weigh such opinions properly, and quite another thing not to weigh them at all; and on the contrary to allow suits to be taxed without the direct intervention of the Legislature, sanctioning the rate at which the tax should be levied. Besides, what has obtained in old communities, is not always desirable in new ones. In the former, long usage may have worked out a system equivalent to legislative intervention, particularly as in England, where a number of judges revise the fees. Here, however, usage is new, experience limited, and the judges an unit. The officer who establishes the fees here may deem the rates but an equivalent for the labor. Whereas, if the entire representation of the country revised them, a different conclusion might be arrived at. Or if not as to the value of the labor, other considerations might have weight to cause a reduction. For, if the principle of making the Courts self-supporting is started without legislative sanction, it may be found that the amount of business is so small that the fees must be inordinately high to meet the expenses of the judiciary. The consequence, then, is a state of things equivalent to a denial of justice. The fees may be so high that no appeal will be made to the Courts. The fees may be out of proportion to the relief sought, or the judgment given. This we believe to be actually the case at present. To the Legislature, then, we look for a revision of Court fees and the passage of a practice act. We don't ask it at other hands. We are opposed to any one taxing the people except the people's representatives. We want taxation and representation to go together; and we expect the Legislature to enforce the principle.

Victor Emmanuel King of Naples.

The news from Italy received by Overland Mail, and published in an EXTRA COLONIST on Thursday, developes another link in the chain of Italian policy, adopted by Louis Napoleon. The Emperor of the French has ever attempted to impress upon the mind of England and the rest of Europe, that his immense army and his large fleet, (both ready at a day's notice for marching or sailing,) meant naught but peace. When he allied with Sardinia against Austria, it was to preserve the peace of Europe; when he stopped short with his army on the borders of Venetia, and settled the quarrel with Francis Joseph, it was to preserve the peace of Europe. In brief, whatever he does—from fighting a battle down to casting a rifled cannon—he is always looking to the harmony, advancement and prosperity of his neighbors. As a dealer in honeyed words and buncombe, Louis Napoleon is not surpassed by any of the crowned heads; and as a consummate statesman he has probably not his equal out of Britain.

The fact of the King of Sardinia having been proclaimed, by the Liberator, King of Naples, shows that the hand of Napoleon has guided and sustained Garibaldi in his enterprises. Do our readers not remember that during the war with Austria, last summer, Garibaldi organized a corps of volunteers, some 20,000 strong, and unsheathing his sword, swore never to return it to its scabbard until he had freed Italia? Yet, when flushed with victory, he was preparing to lead his brave followers across the borders of Venetia, a single word from Napoleon checked him. The brave patriot countermanded his marching orders, disbanded his troops with a blessing, and a promise to yet free them from the tyrant, and retiring to Turin, basked in the sun of the Sardinian Court. Then all Europe called him false to his country. But he was not idle. He was merely waiting for a propitious moment—and that moment came last spring. Openly assisted by Sardinia, and encouraged by France, Garibaldi wrests Sicily and Naples, from the hands of King Bomba, and proclaims Victor Emmanuel sovereign of the freed people

So far so well. All Christendom will rejoice to learn that so wise and good a man as Victor Emanuel will in future control the destinies of Naples. But the statesmen of Europe are wondering what interest Napoleon can have in the freedom of Italy, and they entertain fears that if Garibaldi, backed by his powerful allies, strikes at Venetia next year, a long and bloody European war must ensue. A word from Napoleon checked the patriot in '59; and a word from the same man can send him to battle again in '61. Austria once involved, France and Sardinia will have a good excuse for joining in the fray; Germany, for her own preservation must strike for Austria; and a French army will crown the ambition of their Emperor by invading the Rhenish provinces.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT.—An Indian employed to clear a lot belonging to private parties in the rear of the Government House, met with a fearful accident on Thursday evening. He had placed a heavy charge of powder in a stump, with a view to blowing it up, and was firing a slow match, when a spark reached the charge and it exploded. The concussion threw the unfortunate native several feet into the air, and injured him in a dreadful manner. One (if not both) of his eyes was destroyed, and his head and face were fearfully lacerated by splinters from the stump. He was conveyed to the hospital yesterday morning, when his wounds were dressed by Dr. Trimble, who thinks he may recover.

FILLING UP THE HARBOR.—We learn that the late rains have washed tons of earth from the embankmenton James Bay in front of the Government Buildings, where the chain-gang have been at work dumping dirt during the past summer. The consequence may be, that before the rainy season is over, the channel of the Bay will be so filled up as to prevent navigating. A proper bulkhead should be at once erected, or there will soon be plenty of work for dredging machines.

☞ The Jailor reports thirty-six prisoners in jail—two of whom are insane.

Limitation of Foreign Actions.

The following bill, to declare the limitation of certain causes of action, passed a commitee of tho whole House of Assembly yesterday:

A Bill to declare the Limitations of certain Causes of Action.

WHEREAS doubts have been entertained whether a cause of action which has arisen in a foreign country, between persons there resident, can be maintained in this colony, after the period has expired in which such cause of action would be maintainable in the country in which such cause of action originally arose:

Be it therefore enacted, &c.,

SEC. 1.—That in case any suit or action shall be hereafter instituted in this colony, against any person here resident, in respect of a cause of action or suit which has arisen between such person and some other person, in a foreign country, wherein the person so sued shall have been resident at the time when such cause of action or suit shall have first arisen, such suit or action shall not be maintained in any court of civil jurisdiction in this colony, if the remedy thereon in such foreign country is barred by any statute or enactment for the limitation of actions, existing in such foreign country.

SEC. 2.—Any printed copy, purporting to be an authorized copy of any such statute or enactment, shall be prima facie evidence of the statute or enactment, of which it purports to be an authorized copy.

SEC. 3.—Any defendants may obtain the benefit of this enactment by a plea, in the form following; and for a plea to the (whole or any particular count of) declaration, the defendant, ——, says that the cause of action or suit is barred by the law of limitation of the country in which country the said cause of action or suit first arose.

SEC. 4.—This act may be cited as the "Limitation of Foreign Actions Act, 1860."

Public Cisterns.

EDITOR COLONIST:—Suppose the Theatre had got fairly on fire on Wednesday evening last, where is the cistern situated that would have supplied the necessary water? I am aware of only one cistern in the town, that in the lower part of Johnson street. Is it not of the utmost importance that our [lazy] Assembly should, before adjourning, appropriate a sufficient sum for the immediate construction of three or four capacious cisterns? What a different state of things would exist, if only our town was incorporated. It behooves our business men to petition at once, most urgently, for the immediate construction of three or four cisterns; for what would become of their goods and stores in case of a regular blaze? One cistern would be pumped out in 20 minutes.

MUSICAL "JUPE."—We read, in a recent French paper, of the invention of a musical petticoat, (le jupon a musique,) which, without the aid of steel or whalebone, gives a most graceful appearance to the female figure, by being simply inflated with air. By pushing a button where it fastens on the hips, it discourses an imitation of the hautboy and other instruments; in short, it is a complete orchestra. The inventor claims that ladies hereafter will have no occasion for other music than their petticoats, which they can hold gracefully while dancing. How many tunes it will play, the paper does not state.

COLONIAL THEATRE.—A fine bill is offered to-night at the Colonial. "The Hunchback," one of Sheridan Knowles' best plays, and the farce of "Pleasant Neighbors," will be given. Between the pieces, Miss Lulu will give one of her elegant and chaste dances, and "a gentleman of this city" will sing a favorite ballad. Let there be a full house.

House of Assembly.

THURSDAY, Oct. 18, 1860.

House met at 3 o'clock. Present—Speaker Helmcken, and Messrs. Waddington, Gordon, Cary, Green, Crease, Foster.

HARBOR DUES.

Mr. Cary introduced a bill for the alteration of the existing scale of harbor dues, which was referred to a Committee of the Whole House.

ELECTION COMMITTEE.

Mr. Waddington suggested that the General Committee on Election Petitions should appoint an early day on which to meet.

REGISTRATION OF TITLES.

House in committee on the bill to provide for the registration of title deeds, Mr. Waddington in the chair.

Action on several important sections was postponed until a final reading, and after the passage of three unimportant clauses, the House adjourned until Friday, 19th, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

FRIDAY, Oct. 19th, 1860.

House met at 3 P. M. Present—Speaker Helmcken, and Messrs. Foster, Green, Tolmie, McDonald, Waddington, Cary, Crease, Gordon.

LIMITATIONS OF ACTION.

House in committee on the bill to declare the limitations of foreign actions, Mr. Waddington in the chair.

This was a bill to prevent litigation in this Colony in causes of action which have arisen in a foreign country, and which have been barred by any statute or enactment for limitation of actions existing in such foreign country; and provides that no such cause shall be entertained in any court of the Colony.

The Chairman—I see nothing in this act that will prevent corporations or companies from being sued for debts they may owe in foreign countries.

Mr. Crease—That is not necessary. The bill is applied to persons, and covers such cases.

Mr. Waddington—Suppose a man came here for a few days, would you consider him a resident?

Mr. Cary—It is impossible that a corporation can be resident in a foreign country and be sued here. As soon as a corporation or company ceases to exist in a foreign country, it surely cannot exist here. The term "resident" signifies being here—whether it is for three years or three days.

Mr. Crease would not like to see the bill put into operation for a few months in order that parties here and abroad might have an opportunity to understand its provisions and act accordingly.

Mr. Cary explained that whether the provisions came into force now or at any future time, it could not effect any causes of action which were barred in a foreign country.

Mr. Helmcken said he was afraid if the bill was put off for any length of time all old scores might be raked up before it came into force.

The bill was then read section by section and passed without opposition.

BILL TO CONFIRM CERTAIN TITLES.

This was a bill to confirm certain persons in the fee simple of the real estate which they now hold, and providing for the securing to persons who had purchased real estate previous to January 1st, 1860, where the same had not been conveyed to them in fee simple, such real estate.

Mr. Helmcken—In two or three instances, while selling real estate, I have given deeds of conveyance without inserting the words, "heirs and successors." Now, if I had wished merely to convey a life interest to that property, could I have got it back when the person I conveyed it to died?

Mr. Cary—Yes, unless it was proven that you intended to sell the property, or had got the market value for it at the time of making the conveyance. If I wanted to make $50,000 by buying up defective titles in this town, I could do so. Others have bought up these defective titles merely for the sake of levying black mail.

Mr. Crease had had several of these cases come under his own observation, and that was the reason why he supported the bill.

The four first sections of the bill were passed with slight amendments. Sec. 7 read as follows:

Sec. 7—The Chief Justice shall, upon hearing the cause, if satisfied by the matters contained in the instrument, as well as by the corroborative testimony of persons cognizant of the transactions, that the intention of the original grantor was to convey the property in fee simple to the original grantee, decree that the fee simple thereof shall be vested in the plaintiffs, or otherwise, either legally or equitably, according to the estate of the original grantor.

Mr Waddington consulted "Taylor on Evidence," and declared the section was directly in contradiction with the spirit of English law. According to Taylor, documentary evidence was required of any such transfer. He was afraid the Attorney General was about to put some of our titles in jeopardy by the introduction of oral testimony not always of a reliable character.

Mr. Cary—This bill proyides that not until the Chief Justice is satisfied by the reading of the instrument that the intention was to convey the property in fee simple, does he consult oral testimony. This act sends him a step further than the English act. It compels him to consult corroborative testimony, which the English act does not.

Mr. Crease was of opinion by reading the section, that it seemed to give a preference to documentary evidence.

The section was then passed, and the bill declared complete, upon which the House adjourned to Monday, Oct. 22d, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

SLOOP BY AUCTION.—At 11 o'clock this morning, J. A. McCrea, auctioneer, will sell the sloop "Boz," at Pearkes & Howard's wharf.

Additional News from California.

As we received the only files of papers from California, brought by Mr. Greevy, via the Overland Mail Route, we publish below extracts from San Francisco papers to the 6th inst:

Yesterday, H. R. H. Prince Lot Kamehammeha and suite arrived in our city from Victoria, V. I., in the Royal Hawaiian yacht Emma Rooke. In Victoria all the courtesies and attentions befitting the Prince's rank were paid, and he will receive the same recognition of his rank at the hands of our authorities. Prince Lot will be visited by the Governor of the State and the civic authorities of San Francisco, who will tender him the hospitalities of the State and city. The yacht anchored off Commercial street wharf, and carriages being prepared the Prince and his aids were driven to the International Hotel where suitable apartments had already been prepared for their temporary abode. We learn that it is the intention of the Prince to make excursions in the country, for the purpose of inspecting our mining, agricultural and manufacturing resources, which in his twofold capacity of Minister of the Interior and Commander-in-Chief of the Hawaiian kingdom cannot fail to be both interesting and useful. Yesterday the Prince and his Aids took a casual survey of our city; entered a number of our shops; purchased a quantity of goods, and dispensed with everything like ceremony or etiquette. —S. F. Herald, 5th.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES.—Last night, at ten minutes before 9 o'clock, a fire broke out in Thomas Ward's broom factory, on Drumm street, second door south of Sacramento. The firemen were almost immediately at work, but the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to prevent the destruction of the building. Mr. Ward loses his whole stock; no insurance. The house occupied by Mr. Mitchell as a vinegar factory was also partially consumed. Much injury was also done to another building adjoining. While the firemen were hard at work, another portion of the city was in flames. The house occupied by a Mr. Matthew as a sailors' boarding house, on the north side of Broadway, two doors west of Front street, took fire, and before the already fatigued firemen could reach the spot, the flames had communicated to the adjoining houses. The block is composed of modern tenements, and the fire spread with such rapidity that in one hour ten houses were in ruins. The parties occupying them had scarcely time to get out a portion of their furniture. Those who suffered are Mr. Nathan and Mr. Price, on Broadway; Mr. McCarthy, the proprietor of the Manchester House, on the corner of Front; Messrs. Gardner & Coleman, shipsmiths; Mr. Coffu, keeper of an ale house; Mrs. Burns, of the Bristol House; Mrs. Graham and Pat. Higgins. The only persons insured were Gardner & Coleman, who had $1,000 on their stock. The fire could be seen from all portions of the city. Not less than seven thousand people were in the streets gazing at the spectacle. At 11 o'clock the flames were subdued, and this morning the blistered structures on the opposite sides of the streets stand monuments to the energy of our firemen.—S. F. Nation, 5th.

DAN RICE'S SHOW.—This company have arrived safely at San Francisco, and are giving performances to crowded houses.

SAILED.—The British man-of-war Ganges left our harbor yesterday morning for Valparaiso. She was towed outside the Heads by the steamer Active. We learn that but four men have deserted from the ship since her arrival. This is a very small number, considering the large crew of men on board. —S. F. Nation.

SALE OF CAMELS.—On the 10th instant, the Bactrian camels, lately imported to this State, were to be sold at auction to the highest bidder. The Territorial Enterprise, of Carson City, urges the people of Utah to purchase these animals for the Territory.

TEMESCAL TIN MINES.—Operations are about being commenced at these mines, by Mr. Stearns, of Los Angeles, who has purchased largely of the stock in the various leads, and owns a controlling interest in the Cajalco mine, which he is about to develop. We understand that at his recent visit to these mines, Col. Fremont made purchases of stock, upon which he has since paid, as assessments, the sum of $4,500.

Two heavy failures have occurred at Los Angeles.

The General Association of the Congregational Church of California, met at San Francisco on the 4th. There were thirteen clerical and a number of lay delegates present.

The clipper ship Challenge, 128 days from New York, arrived at San Francisco on the 4th.

DR. ADOLPHUS'
ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL
—AND—
Health Restorative

IS THE MOST VALUABLE AND UNsurpassed remedy for Rheumatism and Gout to be found in the world, or known at present. The discoverer of the above medicine does claim its infallibility in all cases of Rheumatism and Gout—when used according to direction—and does offer a reward of five thousand dollars to any medicine that does supersede it, and is entirely vegetable. The Doctor is enabled to offer the above reward on account of his having used the above medicine for ten years in his practice, and has never known it to fail in the cure of the most protracted cases of Rheumatism and Gout, and withstood all known remedies to the profession. Doctor Adolphus is known and rightly celebrated throughout the State, for his cures in Rheumatism, Gout and Chronic Diseases; and has only to the continued urgent efforts of his patients, and through the desire to help them who are not enabled to see him personally, or to spend a fortune to get rid of the disease, which they have contracted in the pursuit of their daily calling; only this has been able to persuade the Doctor to give the above medicine to the public, and at such terms that every suffering one should be able to reap its benefits.

As a Health Restorative its value supersedes all the mineral wealth and riches of California; and is creating a revolution in the whole treatment of disease throughout the world.

In secondary and tertiary Syphilis, Scrofula, Enlargement of the Glands, Dropsy, and all Nervous and Cutaneous Diseases, and the whole train of Chronic Diseases, which withstand and baffle the skill of the most excellent and learned physician in the world; in Chronic Diseases whose very name is a terror as well to the physician as to the patient, this medicine has proved to be superior to any in existence, and has cured in so short a time that they appeared like being abolished by magic influence, and in fact a few more such discoveries and druggists will not need to keep a lot of useless medicines on hand, whenever they are prescribed once in a ten score they have lost through time their properties in which their value did reside, if there was actually any in them.

Take this medicine when your digestive organs are disordered and your blood is impure, it will surely act on your bowels.

Take this medicine when you have a cold, and it will make you perspire freely.

Take this medicine when your urinary and absorbing organs are disordered, and it will act on your kidneys—it penetrates every part of your body, searches even the most remote and secret recesses of your system, and removes the disease located there—it restores healthy action and gives tone to every organ in the human body—therefore it has righteously deserved the name it bears: HEALTH RESTORATIVE.

The Doctor, who is averse to all patent medicines, wishes it to be understood that the above medicine is no such thing; but that he has, through the introduction of this medicine with its treaties and directions for use, made every sufferer to be his own physician in the above named diseases.

Thinking it under my dignity to follow the mode of quacks, by appending certificates of physicians of private persons, which is too well known can be had for certain remunerations, applications of friends, or by the mode of boring a man half to death for even the most worthless trash, I will therefore leave it to those in want of medicine to inquire personally of men who have been cured by my medicines of the above diseases, and who can be found in almost every city and village throughout the State I consider such personal conviction far superior to certificates of persons that are far from being known to them in want of medical aid.

But should any one care for written testimonials or certificates regarding the cures performed by this medicine, they might call at my office, and I will show them certificates of true merit, which have been sent to me voluntarily, without applying for them, or by boring individuals to get them.

To satisfy the most scrupulous of men, also as a guarantee to those that have not had the opportunity of knowing the Doctor by reputation or personally, I have adjoined to every bottle of the Anti-Rheumatic Cordial, the certificate, and the oath, of one of the most celebrated analytical chemists in the United States, that there are no minerals nor poisons contained in this medicine, although it is a very powerful medicine, and has a very strong action on the human system, which it necessarily must have, to overcome the action of disease of such malignant character.

CALIFORNIA EVIDENCE.

Mokelumne Hill, Cal., June 15th, 1859.

Having suffered for fifteen years with Dyspepsia, in its worst form, and having consulted with the best physicians, and tried everything recommended without relief, I was induced to try the Oxygenated Bitters, and before I had taken one bottle I found myself much better, and continued taking them until I was entirely cured, and now enjoy as good health as I ever did in my life. I take pleasure in recommending them to all who are similarly afflicted.

Make Home Bright and Pleasant.

More than building showy mansion—
More than dress and fine array—
More than domes or lofty steeples—
More than station, power and sway—
Make your home both neat and tasteful,
Bright and pleasant, always fair,
Where each heart shall rest contented,
Grateful for each beauty there.

More than lofty, swelling titles—
More than Fashion's luring g are—
More than Mammon's gilded honors—
More than thought can well compare—
See that home is made attractive,
By surroundings pure and bright—
Trees arranged with taste and order,
Flowers with all their sweet delight.

Seek to make your home most lovely,
Let it be a smiling spot,
Where, in sweet contentment resting,
Care and sorrow are forgot;
Where the flowers and trees are waving,
Birds will sing their sweetest songs—
Where the purest thonghts will linger,
Confidence and love belongs.

Make your home a little Eden,
Imitate her smiling bowers—
Let a neat and simple cottage
Stand among bright trees and flowers;
There, what fragrance and what brightness
Will each blooming rose display!
Here, a simple vine-clad arbor
Brightens through each summer day.

There each heart will rest contented,
Seldom wishing far to roam;
Or, if roaming, still will cherish
Mem'ries of that pleasant home;
Such a home makes man the better,
Pure and lasting its control—
Home, with pure and bright surroundings,
Leaves its impress on the soul.

A Dog that Knows German from English.—We have heard many instances of wonderful sagacity in dogs, but that which we are about to relate, caps the climax. Two families reside in the same dwelling on Front street, near Mill. One of them, Christie Doyle, occupies the first floor and takes the Enquirer. The other, a German, lives up stairs, and is a subscriber to the Valksfreund. Both papers are thrown into the same hall every morning by the carriers. The German has a dog, a species of "setter," that is known throughout the neighborhood for his sagacity. When his master rises in the morning, the dog marches down to the hall for the paper, and invariably returns with the German sheet! He has never been known to make a mistake between the two. Having been educated in the Teutonic family, he doubtless understands German, but the fact which we have related certainly looks as though he could read it. As both are rank Democratic organs, he cannot be governed by the sense or smell, as there would be no difference between them that would strike the canine olfactories. Nevertheless, what we have related is a fact. upon the truth of which we dog-matically insist. It is a somewhat curious exhibition of dorg sense, and we leave canine experts to explain the why and the wherefore.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
